Association was ended locally yesterday in a characteristic manner by the home team losing both games. The air was raw and the weather threatening and the attendance was very small, less that if we hundred people being present, though but one admission was charged for both games. There were those who thought that too much.

The visitors won both contests through superior batting and fielding. Indeed, the States men were outplayed all round. The score of the first game was 15 to 3, the Senators being distanced from the start. The batteries were were considered who recognized its need, pleading earnestly with Carsey was hit savagely and eight hearned were made from his delivery.

what comes from a few charitable individuals, and the question arises, shall this Home for the Friendless be given up after all its struggles for existence while this army of girls is still running at large in our streets, the prey of every evil influence that crosses their pathway? Surely there is responsibility somewhere for their weal or wee. The officers stated that these girls were continually about theaters and the lowest places in the city. Why can they not be brought under some influence, either individual or municipal, or both combined and brought to this home before, from the sheer idleness of their lives, they commence housebreaking. This is too prolific a theme to be discussed in one newspaper article, the idea being merely to suggest that some plan might be formed in which the city, by lending its aid and support, flight utilize the present opportunity.

ing the summer.

Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Penrod leave on Thursday for Chicago, where they will spend the winter. Mr. G. B. Johnston of Washington will occupy their Brookland home.

At the last meeting of the Brookland Citizens' Association, Dr. J. H. Brooks presiding, several matters of interest to residents and lot owners came up for discussion. The District Commissioners have expressed their willingness to lay board walks along certain streets in Brookland provided that the owners of the abutting property agree to pay one-half the cost, and if one-third of the lot owners agree so to do the District will proceed with the work and assess each lot before which a sidewalk is laid the one-half cost.

Much disappointment was expressed at the smallness of the amount named in the estimates for the improvement of the streets of Brookland. It was generally believed that the sum was too small for the work to be done and an effort will be made to have the amount increased. Efforts have been vamly made to have the necessary number of street lamps provided, but this matter is now having attention, and it is hoped that the streets will soon be properly lighted.

C. Helphenstine, H. G. Healey, A. M. McCord and W. W. Payne. From this on strict discipline will be exercised in the matter of attendance at drills and the company hopes to be in excllent shape by spring.

An Absurd Charge Against Washington.

The Washington Homeopathic Society at their meeting last night discussed an editorial in the Medical Journal reflecting on the healthfulness of Washington. The article was the outcome of a report that a number of dele-were afflicted with a viciously severe diarrhoza caused by drinking water. The homeopathists were of the opinion that it was ridiculous. "As a matter of course," said President King, "a change of drinking water is liable to affect a person, but the reports of numerous aggravated cases are far beyond the confines of the truth."

The Velled Prophet.

The great pageant of the Veiled Prophet passed through the principal down-town streets in St. Louis last evening to the chamber of commerce building, where his highness was tendered a reception and ball, at which the Transfiguration in East 29th street. The wedding was private, only the immediate friends of the bride and groom having been invited. There were no bridesmaids, and the customary reception was also dispensed with. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Wetmore drove to their new home, No. 4 West 16th street, and began housekeeping with the honeymoon. Mr. Wetmore is thirty-six years old and a member of the law firm of Barlow & Wetmore, at 36 Wall street. He is an enthusiastic vatchman beauty, wealth and aristocracy of St. Louis beauty, wealth and aristocracy of St. Louis were handsomely represented.

The subject chosen for the floats in the pageant was scenes from the works of popular writers of fiction. There were twenty-two floats in the procession, each float drawn by four horses, and in beauty of design and decoration it surpassed all tableaux of previous years. Wall street.
